The living room had a giant / large television against or on the wall.